Danny was an All-American both on the court and in the classroom at UNLV.

EDUCATION

Danny graduated with high honors from UNLV in 1984, where he studied Business Finance. A two-time Academic All-American in the classroom and an All-American point guard on the basketball court, he was also UNLV's first Rhodes Scholar candidate.

After graduation, Danny attended law school at the University of San Diego. He finished third in his class, graduating magna cum laude in 1988.

BUSINESSMAN

After passing the Nevada bar exam in 1988, Danny practiced law in Las Vegas as an associate with Cohen, Lee, Johnson & Merialdo until starting his own firm, Tarkanian & Kajioka, in 1992. In addition, he co-founded Bentar, now a successful development company, in 1990. In 1995, Danny became the assistant basketball coach at Fresno State.

Danny returned to Las Vegas in 2002 and established the nonprofit Tarkanian Basketball Academy, which combines athletics, academics and positive role-modeling to help young people reach their highest potential.

RIGHT ON THE ISSUES

VOTER FRAUD: A THREAT TO DEMOCRACY

Across the country, the 2000 and 2004 presidential elections were plagued with voting irregularities and outright fraud.

Here in Nevada, we have not been immune: "Clark County election official sees increase in fake voter sign-ups" and "County battling voter fraud" were headlines in the Las Vegas Review-Journal shortly before the 2004 election.

According to the articles, the county was receiving hundreds of "questionable registrations" every week, including one for Freddy Krueger, the fictional character from the horror movie A Nightmare on Elm Street. This prompted an investigation by the attorney general's office.

We use photo ID cards daily to drive our cars, open bank accounts, apply for jobs, board airplanes and more.

Danny Tarkanian believes that combating voter fraud is at least as important. That's why he strongly supports requiring voters to show proof of citizenship when registering to vote and showing a photo ID card at the polls.

MORE REFORMS: PROMOTING FAIR ELECTIONS

Once elected, Danny will conduct comprehensive, annual audits of our voter registration files to determine their accuracy and to purge illegal registrations.

To let voters know if a candidate is being unduly influenced by an individual, corporation or special interest group, Danny proposes requiring candidates to fully disclose the sources of their donations on the secretary of state's Web site every day during the final 30 days before the election.

Violating campaign laws or misusing public office to win an election isn't just "politics as usual" or "dirty tricks" – it's a crime. Danny advocates aggressive criminal prosecution and severe penalties for everyone involved in such criminal acts.

An informed investor is much less likely to become the victim of an investment scam.

PROTECTING NEVADANS FROM SECURITIES FRAUD

The securities division of the secretary of state's office works to protect the public from securities fraud through oversight of the securities industry and investor education.

As your secretary of state, Danny will work with the banking, investment and insurance industries, as well as governmental agencies, to inform investors of their rights and educate them on how to best avoid becoming the victim of an investment scam.

NEVADA: OPEN FOR BUSINESS

As Nevada grows, we must continue to encourage economic growth and job creation.

Danny will run the commercial recordings division of the secretary of state's office like a business – with a passion for responsive customer service – and not like a slow-moving, impersonal bureaucracy.

He proposes expansion of the online business filing services introduced by our current secretary of state. This will increase efficiency and allow for the Las Vegas "satellite" office to provide full services, while saving taxpayer dollars.

"As your secretary of state, I will protect the integrity of our elections by fighting voter fraud and continuing to reform our election process."
